

the Commission, the Council and the Parliament. The Commission is the executive body of the Union, the Council is the legislative body, and the Parliament is the representative body of the citizens of the Union.

The Commission is headed by the President of the Commission, who is elected by the Parliament for a five-year term. The President is assisted by the Vice-President and by the Commissioners. The Council is composed of the Heads of State or Government of the Member States, and the Parliament is composed of Members of the European Parliament (MEPs) elected by the citizens of the Member States.

The Commission, the Council and the Parliament are all independent of each other and of the Member States. They are all responsible to the citizens of the Union. The Commission is responsible for the day-to-day running of the Union, the Council is responsible for the legislative process, and the Parliament is responsible for representing the citizens of the Union.

The Commission, the Council and the Parliament are all part of the executive branch of the Union. The Commission is the executive body, the Council is the legislative body, and the Parliament is the representative body. They are all responsible to the citizens of the Union.

The Commission, the Council and the Parliament are all part of the executive branch of the Union. The Commission is the executive body, the Council is the legislative body, and the Parliament is the representative body. They are all responsible to the citizens of the Union.

The Commission, the Council and the Parliament are all part of the executive branch of the Union. The Commission is the executive body, the Council is the legislative body, and the Parliament is the representative body. They are all responsible to the citizens of the Union.

The Commission, the Council and the Parliament are all part of the executive branch of the Union. The Commission is the executive body, the Council is the legislative body, and the Parliament is the representative body. They are all responsible to the citizens of the Union.